

Abstract of the Disclosure

An indicia for demonstrating a particular type of two-handle hand tool, such as a pliers, is located on the protected inner surface of at least one of the handles. This location for the indicia provides for better viewing of the indicia when the tool is stored in a container and it protects the indicia from abrasion.